

CIL (Coal India Limited): 1.332604099

- CIL has a current ratio greater than 1, indicating that it has more current assets than current liabilities.
- This suggests that CIL is well-positioned to cover its short-term obligations.

NTPC: 1.597744981

- NTPC also has a current ratio greater than 1, indicating a healthy liquidity position.
- The company has more current assets available to cover its short-term liabilities.

IOCL (Indian Oil Corporation Limited): 0.9689437215

- IOCL's current ratio is less than 1, suggesting a relatively lower short-term liquidity position.
- It may need to manage its current assets and liabilities efficiently to meet short-term obligations.

ONGC (Oil and Natural Gas Corporation): 0.9224897958

- ONGC has a current ratio less than 1, indicating that it may have a lower capacity to cover immediate obligations using its current assets.
- Further analysis is needed to understand the specific reasons behind this current ratio and its implications for ONGC.

BPCL (Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited): 0.7492788492

- BPCL has a current ratio less than 1, suggesting that it may have a lower short-term liquidity position.

In summary, NTPC and CIL appear to have strong short-term liquidity positions, while IOCL, ONGC, and BPCL may need careful management of current assets and liabilities to ensure they can meet immediate financial obligations.

ONGC (Oil and Natural Gas Corporation): 0.02723440524

ONGC has a current ratio significantly less than 1, suggesting potential challenges in covering short-term obligations using its current assets.

Further investigation is required to understand the specific factors contributing to this low current ratio.

CIL (Coal India Limited): 0.002473150317

CIL has an extremely low current ratio, well below 1. This indicates a significant imbalance between current assets and current liabilities.

Such a low current ratio may raise concerns about CIL's ability to meet short-term obligations.

BPCL (Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited): 0.4081313003

BPCL has a current ratio less than 1, indicating a potential challenge in covering short-term liabilities with current assets.

While not as low as ONGC and CIL, further analysis is needed to understand the reasons behind this ratio.

NTPC: 0.5711786743

NTPC's current ratio is less than 1, suggesting that the company may face challenges in covering short-term obligations using its current assets.

Careful management of working capital may be required to improve this ratio.

IOCL (Indian Oil Corporation Limited): 0.4957678865

IOCL also has a current ratio less than 1, indicating potential difficulties in meeting short-term obligations.

Further investigation is needed to identify the specific components affecting the current ratio.

As per our analysis, the firms in the order of maximum to least financial stability are in the order given below:

1. Bharat Petroleum Corporation Limited (BPCL)
2. National Thermal Power Corporation (NTPC)
3. Oil and Natural Gas Corporation (ONGC)
4. Indian Oil Corporation Limited (IOCL)
5. Coal India Limited (CIL)
